NUMBER 52

The Bulldogs Were Too Big For Light Hamlin Pied Pipers

Stamford Score 13
Hamlin 0

It has happened again but nobody has any regrets. It was a dandy game and every Hamlin fan is proud of Hamlin's Pied Pipers.

That game last Friday night between the Stamford Bulldogs and Hamlin's Pied Piper team was perhaps the most enjoyable foot ball game ever played before a Hamlin crowd of howling fans. O, yes, certainly the score was too high to make the good feelings complete. But 13 to 0 is not so bad when we look over some of the big university games played the past week end. The chief excuse for public school foot ball is the SPORT, and from the sport standpoint, the Stamford-Hamlin game was a howling success. That is not all, the financial angle was up to snuff, too.

How many persons were within the big new stadium? The Herald can estimate the number at more than 2,000. This one thing certain: if any more come to any future game than were at that one last Friday night, they will have to stand on the rock fence as the grounds will not hold more than were at that game. However, let's correct one estimate. Not half of that crowd came from Stamford.

Foot ball at night is something new for Hamlin people, and therefore there were men and women but last Friday night who had never seen a game before. Really, some of the new fans are beginning to learn what a touchdown is by now. They saw a Stamford Bulldog snatch the ball and run over a white line and then the Stamford fans went wild, early in the game. That fellow who bucked the line across for the first touchdown was 195 pound Massey. This big Bulldog outweighed Hamlin's top weight by 15 pounds. That is a lot of beef to stop. Now let's drop down to a lighter Bulldog; that little fellow McClelland, 134 pounds. Gainor, 170 pounder, got in a lot of good toe work for the extra point in the second quarter after fleetly Fuqua, 135, skirted around 17 yards for the second touchdown.

The last half of the game counted nothing but a few first downs for the visitors. The most exciting moments were when three or four Pipers tugged at the massive Massey as he tried time and again to pull away from the Hamlin boys.

All through the game, it would seem that the Pipers had about two ideas in mind: First to hold the Bulldogs on as low a score as possible and to put up a fight that would entertain their host of yelling fans and visitors. They did a good job. This was true when the Pipers started the second half. Alvin Johnson and Leonard Sowell thrilled their friends and sank the hearts of the visitors in the third quarter by a successful pass, and Gerald Ivy only lacked a second in getting away after the kickoff for a clear field.

In relating the details of a football game, each man should be mentioned but custom allows but a few outstanding fellows. But often the ones who get but little attention are the ones who bear the brunt of the fight.

This report of the Stamford-Hamlin game must name such fellows as Ellison and Nicholson, besides those already mentioned.

Hamlin's line-up included: ends, Sowell and Walton; tackles, Ellison and Barrow; guards, Kelley and Barton; center, Lasseter; quarter, Nicholson; halves, Johnson and Dean and full, Ivy.

Checking over the weights of both teams we find that the Stamford men averaged 21 pounds over the Hamlin Pipers. Poundage cuts a big figure on a foot ball field. It hits hard, it gets away and it is hard to pull. One Hamlin Piper was heard to say after the game was over that he was going to get married and raise up some boys big enough to whip Stamford. That boy is looking "far" ahead, and he may have something there.

The fun of the game did not stop when the whistle blew. It was fought over and over all day Saturday, Sunday and Monday among the fans. The boys were catching their breath for the Aspermont game, which was changed to Thursday night of this week instead of Friday as was scheduled. This was to enable folks from those two towns to attend the Munday-Stamford game in Stamford Friday night.

Hamlin will have one more game on the home field after this week. On November 3, Haskell will tackle the Pipers here.

State Police have completed arrangements for additional activities in the traffic safety field during the week of October 30 to November 4, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Public Safety Director, announced today.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel proclaimed that period as School Safety Week in Texas and joined forces with the Texas Safety Association, local safety organizations and school officials to carry safety messages into the entire school system. Director Garrison said highway patrolmen have tested practically every school bus in the State to insure a minimum number of accidents caused by mechanical defects.

State Police, too, will take part in chapel programs and assit safety patrols in directing traffic in the vicinity of rural schools. Attention of the officers will be directed at correcting careless operations of bicyclists and motorists who transport school children, Garrison said.

In keeping with the proclamation issued by the chief executive the public safety head called upon parents, school officials and motorists to assume individual responsibility in the protection of students, "not only during school safety week but throughout the year."

"Those who transport school children," Garrison warned, "should discharge their passengers at curbs nearest their destinations so streets would not have to be crossed on foot. Playground supervisors should be alert to the dangers of their charges darting into streets to retrieve balls."

The state police department has been conducting and planning safety education courses in public schools and colleges for several years in which thousands of students take part.

PANAMA RAILROAD MAN GUEST OF LIONS TUESDAY

Another vivid example of this nation's foreign activities was exemplified at the Hamlin Lions club Tuesday when a West Texas man, E. D. Mason, Asst. to Manager of the Panama Railroad Co., spoke.

Mr. Mason's mother lives at McCaulley and he pays her a visit every year or so. He spoke once before in Hamlin at the Rotary club. He always gives interesting details of transportation across the Canal Zone, which today holds a spot light in world events.

Mr. Mason will be the guest speaker next week at the Hamlin Rotary Club.

Miss Virginia Jones and her father returned Sunday from a hunting trip into Canada. Miss Jones says she shot one deer and one moose, a big moose too. She boasts that the game she downed was equal in number to her father's and both kinds much larger. Miss Jones was brought up on a ranch near Maryneal and has been shooting all her life. Snow and ice were plentiful, as well as game.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Rush, Sunday, were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Blagg, of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rush and daughters, Janis and Joyce; Mrs. Virgil Rush and daughter, Marsha, of Denver City, Texas; Joe and Elvin Carlton, of Tuxedo; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Amerson; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Plemons and daughter, Mrs. Will Meeks and Mr. Meeks. Mrs. Virgil Rush and daughters, Marsha and Obara, and Edwin Rush returned to their home in Denver City Sunday evening and Mrs. Edwin Rush and children went to Anson to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thorn.

Delma Shelburne underwent an emergency appendix operation at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Tuesday night at 11:00 o'clock. He stood the operation well and is reported to be doing fine.

D. O. SAULS

Last week the Herald carried the information that D. O. Sauls, a prominent citizen of Hamlin had died and that the funeral services were held on Thursday, October 19.

The passing of Mr. Sauls was almost sudden. His neighbors and friends had known for a year or more that his health was not good but he continued to be active, in fact, went about his business affairs practically as in former days.

Perhaps about a week or so before his death he became ill from a heart affection and high blood pressure, and his condition became serious before his closest friends even realized it. Death came at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday, October 18. Mr. Sauls was 67 years, 9 months and 5 days of age. He was born in Bell County, Texas, Jan. 13, 1872. He was married to Miss Mattie Johnson in Jonesboro, Texas, and to this union there was but one child, Mrs. Martin McCain of Houston. Survivors in his immediate family are his companion, Mrs. McCain and one grand child, Miss Martie Jean McCain of Houston. Two brothers, J. H. Sauls of Hamlin and Sam Sauls of Ft. Worth.

D. O. Sauls and family came to Hamlin in its early days, 1906. From the very first he was associated with every civic and business movement for the good of Hamlin. Although being a farmer by natural inclination, he engaged in merchandising in Hamlin, probably operating one of Hamlin's first important dry goods stores, and later a grocery store.

Mr. Sauls acquired considerable city and farm property, and in every way was a successful business man. He figured prominently in church and Masonic Lodge affairs from early manhood. He was a member of the Methodist church, and from time to time contributed his time and finances to the local church building. He was a member of the building committee that constructed the present church structure. As a Mason Mr. Sauls stood high in its work. He was a member of the Shriners Temple.

During the years in Hamlin, Mr. Sauls served on the Hamlin school board and the City Council. His conservative ideas of business dealings caused him to be a good leader.

D. O. Sauls was what one would call a "likeable man." He had a friendly bearing, a sympathetic attitude and was jolly enough to brighten up every circle in which he associated. He was a very attentive companion and a loving father. Such a man in any community is valuable.

Funeral services at the Methodist church on Thursday afternoon were attended by a great number of friends and neighbors. Loving tributes and remembrances were manifested by the numerous floral offerings. The pastor, Rev. H. W. Hanks, and a former pastor, Rev. J. H. Hamblen, conducted the services. The Masonic Order officiated in its ancient and solemn custom at the funeral and at the grave side. The pallbearers were: Ross Fomby, Tate May, Dan Howard, Clarence Bailey, Frank Waggoner, Ted Bledsoe, Elmer Feagan, and O. H. Berry of Sweetwater.

Interment was in East Cemetery, under the direction of the Barrow Company.

Miss Meddie Mae Bynum came up from Fort Worth and spent last week here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Bynum. She is moving to Dallas where she is doing medical clerical work in the Medical Arts Building.

U. S. NAVY BAND COMING TO ABILENE

The famous United States Navy Band will visit West Texas for two engagements in Abilene on November 2, and will give matinee and night performances in the Hardin-Simmons University Auditorium on that day, it was announced recently in Abilene.

Under the direction of Lieutenant Charles Benter, noted leader of the band, the appearances there will inaugurate the H-SU artist course season.

From throughout the area, high school bands are making reservations to hear the Navy Band. First such reservation came from the Breckenridge Buckaroo Band. Its director, J. C. Burkett, said the band will attend in uniform.

The Navy Band, official representative of the entire U. S. Naval forces, by Act of Congress, will appear at H-SU while on a seven week tour that will extend into 20 states. The band played in Abilene in 1937, and is returning by popular request.

Special matinee performance rates for high school students has been set at 25 cents, Manager Sandefer said, with 83 cents for adults. Night prices are 55c, 83c, and $1.10.

COUNTY FAIRS

The Herald is in receipt of a long list of exhibitors from Jones County in the Haskell County Fair. These were 4-H Club boys, as reported by County Agent Lynch. There were twenty-one boys with twenty-nine head of livestock. Needless to say that many first, second and third prizes were awarded the County Agent-sponsored boys. Jones county is one of the leading counties in West Texas, and the young fellows who are interested in livestock now, give proof that this county in the 254 of the state is due to stay up in the lead.

Speaking of "Fairs" . . . Jones County is doing a lot of "contributing" to neighboring county fairs. County fairs are good stimulations for many lines of endeavor, especially livestock, and poultry. Wonder why Jones County can't have a big fair of its own—maybe it is because this county has no central city, and two towns would not want to furnish much of a show to pull attention from them to "the other place." There is something to that. Maybe that is why so many nice exhibits are carried to Abilene, Sweetwater, Haskell, and other places to help those places make a good showing. There is nothing wrong in showing off in some other county, but really county fairs form a center for showing off and the best sale is when the home folks are sold to themselves.

Proud fathers enjoy seeing what their sons can show their neighbors, and it would not hurt to see some fancy work done by the daughters, or maybe some extra cooking. Everybody likes to see fine colts and shoats, sheep and goats.

Wonder if Stamford, Hamlin and Anson could not fence off a block of land somewhere in the "triangle" about the same distance from each place and build a real 'RURAL FAIR' nearly in the center of the county. It would be only a short few minutes' drive out to the show grounds, where the pens, the barns, the stadiums, tracks, rodeos, carnivals, and a hundred other things which are usually found at fairs. We believe we "have something there." But some merchant will say, you are suggesting a pull away from our towns . . . maybe so, but as it is, there is a "pull away", and only a few of our Jones County folks get in on it. "Jones County Central Rural Fair," what an idea . . . if it is no good the idea will die, if that idea has a "soul" it will live. A 'Jones County Central Rural Fair' is needed.

SUBSIDY CHICKS Vs. TEXAS RENTERS

Once again, this week, Ye Editor has been forcibly reminded that Congress has an unfinished job equally as big as that of avoiding an international war.

On three occasions, this week we have seen the bewildered faces of long standing, dependable, successful farmers, renters of ability, too, at present and in the years gone away, who were frantically seeking a farm place for their families to live upon another year.

Ask the renter-farmer the question. What is the matter, and he will tell you that the farm check is the root of his trouble. Now from the landowner's point of view, who but the owner is entitled to the proceeds of his farm. And that is a fact, undisputed . . . but facts are what hurt the homeless family. Somebody will say, Mr. Renter, why don't you lease a farm on the money basis, as we note so many are for hire that way. To pay CASH for the lands and take all the responsibility, is putting the renter behind the Eight ball. Suppose lands rent for, say $3.00 per acre, cash. That figure represents about one-third of its cash outright sale value. The question of how best to use our vast acres of land to fit the economic welfare of our people is a big one to settle. One thing certain, when we see a man of "up-in-age" have to pull up and sell his tools, his teams, his milch cows, and try to get some place to dwell the rest of his life, in half security, we know full well that our relief rolls are not going to get smaller.

To our mind there is no problem too deep and complicated but that the American people can solve it, justly. The problem, let us say once more, that must be settled, is the land possession. It is the dear earth that all of humanity must depend upon, and it is not only our duty to conserve our lands but to disburse it to families who must have it. It can be done with full justice to every owner in America, and permit every one desiring a land home to be protected with plenty of lands to spare. This is something to think about.

Land speculation large enough will ruin any country. Vast acres of soil regardless of how acquired, and used by one person while hundreds have not a foot to live upon or use is not getting anybody very much happiness. But no one would like to see anybody deprived of their holdings without compensation, and nobody likes to see somebody given something for nothing. This leads us to think that the plan of selecting energetic farmers and let them contract to use a farm made possible by the governments funds on long term payments is getting at the bottom of the problem . . . only it is not yet on a large enough scale, and fails to reach the older men and women.

HOMEMAKING NEWS

Did you know that pajama trousers can be sewed up so that one cannot tell what they are or cannot get into them? Well, we found all this out recently in Homemaking I when we attempted to put our pajamas together. Another thing we learned is that pajama seams must be well made or the garment will not wear well.

In Homemaking II we have been studying meat cuts and how to cook tough and tender cuts of meat. Meat includes beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton, while poultry includes chicken, turkey, duck, goose, pigeon, squab and wild birds. Chickens are not hard to dress, because we tried it to find out. We have also learned how to select poultry and the foods to serve with poultry. Next we will prepare some vegetables and perhaps try a whole meal soon.

Speaking of Homemaking, we need your support at the Hallowe'en Carnival so that we can improve our department; so look up our Ham-burger Joint on Saturday night.

(6 or 8 minutes of such wear, repeated 6 or 8 times a day through these cold months, mounts up beyond 90 hours!)... 90 life-sapping hours for engines abandoned to oils that can only "flow fast"... but no oil-starvation in 90 hours or 900 hours, when your engine's OIL-PLATED.

The "magnetic" action of Germ Processed oil gives every square inch in your engine a slippery overlay of OIL-PLATING—attached as firmly as chromium-plating. And could any plating drain down when you park in any cold, for any length of time? Then you know why OIL-PLATING—drain-proof—is ready to lubricate before you're even ready to get out of bed, or away from work. Before any oil-pump could squirt a drop, your drain-proof OIL-PLATING has readied your engine for safe, easy starting. That's how you get the drop on the worst of Winter by OIL-PLATING now with Conoco Germ Processed oil. Keeps up your engine—your battery—your oil-level, too. Change now to Your Mileage Merchant. GOOD CROPS SOME JONES CO. FARMS

ITEMS OVER THE COUNTY (By G. D. Triplett)

In the Hodges community good crops are being made. Jurdeon Gentry reports that he is making one-half a bale of cotton to the acre on land which was in grain last year. Maize, also grown on last year's wheat land, is making over a ton to the acre. "And," said Mr. Gentry, "I have 10,000 bundles of cane left from last year."

J. S. Presley of the Union community, is making three-fourths of a bale of cotton to the acre on land overflowed early in the year by the Clear Fork River.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vasser have canned over 400 quarts of fruits and vegetables this year, have yet to can one calf and to butcher two 250 pound hogs. They also have a good supply of dried beans and peas stored for winter use. In addition they have four good milk cows and 90 laying hens. Vegetables were grown this year in frame and other gardens and at the start of the year they prepared and irrigated a garden 80x35 feet in dimensions.

The best poultry show Jones Co. has ever had is in prospect for the sixth annual show to be held in Anson December 14, 15 and 16th. Cash premiums paid out by the show are larger than any show in this area and in addition there are a number of cash special premiums and this year leading poultrymen of the nation are contributing $10 settings of eggs to be used as special premiums in the show. Eggs will come from: Iowa, 7 settings; New York, 4 settings; California, Ohio, Mississippi and Massachusetts, one setting each.

J. W. Pritchett of Corinth, one of the leading poultry breeders of the county, and recognized as an outstanding judge in the State, having judged the State Red Meet at Waco early this year, is to judge Jones County really helped put the Haskell County Fair over. The Anson band won first place and the Hamlin band third place in the parade and a Jones County girl riding a Jones county horse took first place for mounted riders; Jones County club boys had ten head of dairy cattle in the show and a like number of beef cattle and a large number of hogs and pigs; the poultry show was judged by a Jones County man and a number of Jones County chickens were winners in that part of the show.

Among winners from Jones County at the poultry show at Haskell were: Herman Propst who entered seven birds and took six prizes; A. G. Hester took first red pen and fourth pullet and W. H. Graham took second red pen.

Herman Propst also was an exhibitor at the National Red meet held at Wharton the past week in connection with their regular poultry show. In competition with breeders from all over the nation Mr. Propst made two entries and took third place on one of his birds. He lives on route two, Stamford and is a Rhode Island Red fancier.

the Haskell poultry show on the 19th and the Sweetwater show on the 25th.

Ginners over the county have expressed themselves as believing that this year's cotton crop will be less than 20,000 bales.

For the first time in the county a Hallowe'en Spook parade will be held in Anson with 8 prizes offered the spookiest rural school children and several prizes offered the Anson school pupils. The parade will be at 7:15 p. m. Hallowe'en night led by the Anson High school band.

Gilbert Bowman, Jr., was able to return home Sunday from an Abilene hospital where he had an appendix operation, Monday, October 16. He is reported to be recovering nicely.

Ray Humphreys of Seagraves was in Hamlin Monday renewing acquaintances. Ray has grown up about 16 inches since he lived here. While here Ray had the Herald sent to his mother at Seagraves.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker and their son, Gathens of Austin, and Mrs. Solon Walker and son Slate of Ivan, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Waggoner Sunday. J. H. Walker is a cousin of Mrs. Waggoner and formerly State Land Commissioner of Texas.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

(By BOYCE HOUSE)

More Memories of a newspaperman:

The time when, as a small town editor, it was my good fortune to scoop the start journalist of Texas in his own newspaper. He was sent to Eastland by a metropolitan newspaper to "cover" the trial of the Santa Claus bank bandit but, figuring the jury would be out a good while, the staff correspondent wandered over to Breckenridge. The jury came in unexpectedly and, seeing that he wasn't there, I called his paper by long distance telephone and gave the verdict. The first he knew of it was when he saw the big headline in his paper.

But I know how he felt.

As the one-man news department of the Ranger Times, I okayed the first copy of the paper off the press one afternoon, then sauntered up town to a friend's office. A few minutes later, I heard a newsboy yelling, "Ranger man commits suicide!" Knowing I had handled no such story, I ran out, bought a paper and—sure enough—there it was.

Here's the way it had happened! Right after I left the office, George Manning, the advertising manager (now publisher at Overton), came in with the news as he had been passing right after the man had shot himself; then Ernest Glazner, linotype operator, wrote the story; Joe Thompson set it up; Whitey Hicks, the foreman, wrote the headline, pulled out a feature yarn on Page 1 to make room for the suicide story and there it was—the editor scooped in his own paper. The only consolation was that it had taken four men to do it!

Which calls to mind the story of the negro accused of beating up a negro woman. The defendant explained to the judge:

"Yoah honah, she promised me if I would git her a set o' false teeth that she'd marry me and I got her a set of teeth whut cost me $40 and then she throwed me ovah. Yistiddy I seen her wid anodder niggah and she grinned at me—grinned at me wid my own teeth, and I knocked h--- out o' her!"

Most vivid recollection of the 1938 campaign: Ralph Yarborough's closing speech in Austin's Woolridge Park the night before the first primary. In the midst of his address, a heavy rain struck but the candidate, bare-headed and unsheltered, kept on speaking as the program was going out over the radio. Most of the audience ran to their cars and listened there, honking their horns when the candidate for Attorney General made a telling point. But fully 200 persons huddled under the scant protection of the trees and, though soon dripping wet, they laughed and cheered. With such devotion as that from the home folks, no wonder Yarborough received 71 per cent of the votes in his home county against four opponents.

Interesting facts about Texans:

N. H. Pierce, Menard publisher, used to be a wrestler; look at his Gibraltar-like figure, 240 pounds, and you won't doubt that he went two hours to a draw with a grappler who had held Champion Strangler Lewis to a tie.

Captain Aldrich of the Texas Rangers has one of the finest collections of Texas books in existence.

Amor Carter used to sell crayon enlargements of photographs.

And I should like to be recognized long enough to express my bitter resentment at being charged 15 cents for a hamburger in Austin—at a sandwich stand, at that! Any place so snooty that it feels called upon to charge more than a dime for a hamburger is too high-toned to be selling such a plain, democratic product as a hamburger, anyway.

One of the most interesting hotels in Texas is the Excelsior at Jefferson. Part of the structure was erected before the Civil War. Between the hotel and the lonesome old federal building (Jefferson once had a population of 30,000 but now has only a few thousand inhabitants), there are Texas fuschias, like red rose-buds; the variegated pinks and yellows of lantanas; and periwinkles, white roses, marigolds, Mexican sunflowers and morning glories—(somebody told me what the flowers were, all but the morning glories—we had those in Arkansas, too).

On the veranda is a large cage containing a hundred canaries. Their ancestors were there 50 years ago, twittering and fluttering about.

Some of the furniture is 150 years old and the register contains the names of General Grant, Jacob Astor, W. H. Vanderbilt and Jay Gould. At the bottom of a page, Gould wrote "End of Jefferson, Texas." The railroad builder was angry because the city wouldn't provide the bonus he thought it should for building a railroad and that marked the beginning of Jefferson's decline.

The rooms of the Excelsior have no keys and have never been locked—not even when the town experienced a recent oil boom.

Fireplace Is Oldest Fixture

In the entire family of household equipment, the fireplace is by far the oldest member. It can trace its ancestry back to the earliest dawn of civilization—a distinction which no other household fixture enjoys. A pile of stones near the entrance to the cave man's home marked the beginning of this useful invention. Advancing civilization has written its story in fireplaces as they have reflected accurately the customs of the times in which they were used. This is true even to this day when, in keeping with the so-called electrical age, there are synthetic fireplaces which are lighted by electricity but which give off no heat.

Texas Wild Life

Whether the cutting of large trees is detrimental to the squirrel crop of Texas will be determined by Regional Game Biologists who have started a squirrel nest count in Robinson and Leon counties, where considerable logging is being started.

The total squirrel population of these counties will be determined before a large amount of timber is taken and another count will be made when the woods have been considerably thinned by the felling of large trees to be made into ties, crates and boxes.

It is not definitely known whether the cutting is detrimental or is an aid. It is possible that the thinning of timber will increase the available food supply for the little "nut-eaters," or again it may be that too many suitable nesting sites are removed and the squirrel population will be hard hit.

When a train conductor stops his string of freight cars almost daily and uses the hoboos riding the train to sweep out grain so that wild turkeys may be fed, the Game Department feels that it is getting cooperation of the highest caliber. That is exactly what is happening in Archer county. The State Game Warden at Wichita Falls recently noticed the train halted near a river and dust flying out of the doors of several cars. Upon investigation he found the conductor had about half a dozen hoboos sweeping out grain from grain cars to feed a bunch of wild turkeys that use that area. Questioned, the conductor said that he had heard the warden's plea, last winter when snow was on the ground, about feeding wild life and he decided that every time he had any empty grain cars on his train he would make use of the hoboos riding by having them sweep out the cars at a place where he knew turkeys were ranging.

There are approximately 40 turkeys in this bunch which are being fed in such an unusual way.

Several ring-necked pheasants ree leased in Colorado county last year have nested and brought on 41 young birds, it is reported to the Game Department. It appears Colorado county may be one of the few places in Texas where pheasants will survive.

The State Game Department has issued a warning to hunters that erroneous information concerning the bag limits on ducks and geese has been printed on the backs of the State hunting licenses. Between November 15 and December 29, the season on ducks and geese in Texas, sportsmen will be allowed 10 ducks in one day or 20 in possession. They will also be allowed 4 geese a day or 8 in possession. However, canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads and ruddy ducks have special limits. Only 3 of any one of these kinds or an aggregate of 3 of them may be taken in one day and 6 is the possession limit.

Nineteen restoration areas have been set up by the State Game Department in the last three months for the purpose of increasing the quail, duck, beaver and muskrat population in Texas, it is reported by the director of wild life restoration. Funds obtained under the Pittman-Robertson Act are being used. Projects which will be introduced soon include deer, turkey, geese, and antelope restoration.

Persons bothered with bats inhabiting attics, barns, or sheds can get rid of them by lighting the places these erie little animals inhabit, it has been found by Game Managers of the State Game Department.

To keep Texas' fields and streams first in the thoughts of hunters and fishermen, both in the State and out, the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission during the past twelve months increased its restocking program and promoted interest in wild life through a state-wide game management project, it was pointed out recently in the Commission's Annual Report for the fiscal year ending on August 31, 1939.

A total of 20,000 bobwhite quail were distributed during the 1937-38 fiscal year, the Report states. The Commission distributed the birds on a cooperative basis, a quail being given free to each purchaser of one.

In addition, 533 wild turkeys and 194 white tailed deer were distributed to depleted areas over the State. During the preceding year no turkeys were distributed because the crop would not justify it.

Successful live trapping of antelopes in West Texas were reported. It was the first antelope trapping program ever attempted in Texas. Thirty-three of the wiry animals were trapped, placed in padded crates and transported to areas in West Texas. The program, to be resumed within a few weeks, ultimately will result in the establishment of about 15 seed herds in West Texas, the Report says.

Production at nine State fish hatcheries was stepped up 20.7 per cent during the year, and construction of a tenth hatchery at Natalia, in Medina County, was virtually completed. Six months after work on the Natalia hatchery was started fish were being produced in 13 ponds the Report says. When completed the hatchery will consist of 42 ponds.

A total of 3,429,592 fish were produced at the other nine hatcheries, an increase of 360,887 over the previous year's total of 3,068,705. All of the fish were of fingerling size when released, except 175,000 black bass fry which were placed in suitable waters, and approximately 88 per cent of the fish distributed went to public lakes and streams. The Lake Dallas hatchery led in production with a total of 740,046 fish, the Report says.

The Report points out that 1,758,247 fish, slightly over half of the number produced at the hatcheries, were rescued from drying up streams or other unsuitable waters and placed in favorable lakes or streams during the year.

The state-wide game management project has stimulated "unprecedented" interest the Report says, many sportsman-landowner groups having offered to finance necessary work on their lands. "In Polk county, for instance," the Report says, "one group has put up $5,000 for use in an experimental demonstration project the object of which is to increase quail. Many similar instances could be cited."

The Report says the number of hunters and fishermen who bought licenses increased during the year, but pointed out that Texas, although first in wildlife resources, remained 23rd among the States in the amount of money spent for wildlife conservation and restoration activities.

'Beautiful Blue Danube'

Is Important Waterway

To most Americans, a mention of the Danube river first brings to mind one of the world's favorite waltz tunes, but to Europeans it also is known as a mighty highway of commerce from southern Germany across the Balkans to the Black sea. The river also forms parts of three international boundaries, between Slovakia and Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania, and the latter country and Bulgaria.

Germany now is constructing a canal which will connect the upper Danube and the Main river, in Bavaria which in turn flows into the Rhine at Mainz. The new canal in part will follow the route of a smaller one built a century ago by King Ludwig I of Bavaria.

Completion of the new waterway, scheduled for 1945, will make possible the shipment of goods by water, without transfer, all the way across Europe, from the North sea at the mouth of the Rhine to the Black sea at the mouth of the Danube. Exchange of the industrial output of northern Europe for the farm products and oil of the Balkans is expected to be greatly facilitated.

Rising in Germany's Black forest, only about 100 miles from the sources of two other well-known European rivers, the Rhine and the Rhone, the Danube flows east and southeast into former Austria, past Vienna. Annexation of Austria to Germany brought 340 additional miles of the river within the confines of the German Reich.

Touching briefly on the Slovakia-Hungary border, the Danube then moves sluggishly across the plains of Hungary. Next it flows through northeastern Yugoslavia and cuts through the Transylvanian Alps at the famous Iron Gate, on the Yugoslav-Rumanian frontier, where the river boils and rushes among dangerous rocks. After forming the Bulgarian-Rumanian boundary for some 235 miles, it flows north into Rumania to Braila, head of navigation for sea-going vessels, and then meanders through a marshy delta, by several branches, into the Black sea.

Whoever wrote the title for Johann Strauss' famous waltz would have been more accurate if he had called the Danube brown instead of blue. It carries something like 100,000,000 tons of silt per year down to its mouth.

Traders, troops and travelers have traversed its muddy waters for centuries. Roman soldiers pushed far up its course to establish outposts of empire. Crusaders on their way to the East sailed down the Danube. Turkish invaders of Europe followed it upstream. Still to be seen on rocky craggs along the river are ruins of castles from which "robber barons" levied tribute on passing cargoes.

SUDDEN DEATH

(By PIERCE BROOKS

President Texas Safety Council)

One of the great thrills experienced by Texas fathers and mothers comes to them when they pass the public schools and see on every adjacent corner earnest and courteous young men cheerfully directing traffic in the interest of greater safety.

Schools that have not adopted this plan of promoting good citizenship, as well as safety for pedestrians and motorists alike, are urged to meet with their law enforcement agencies and work out a co-operative system.

That the world is getting better—especially in this peaceful land, is manifest in the attitude of the students themselves toward this service. In "the good old days," the rough element of the schools would have scorned such precautions and jeered the patrols, but today, hearty co-operation is given and all like it.

A boy who will get up early in the morning and report for patrol duty, rain or shine, in cold or heat, has something in him to make Texas feel a pride in him.

It is great to see youthful Texans directing traffic to preserve life rather than wielding a bayonet or directing a bullet to take a life.

If traffic rules are enforced near the schools, many will catch the point and will observe them elsewhere.

It's great to save a life or a limb.

W. L. Boyd, Jr., Fred B. Moore and J. B. Terrell, students in Baylor University, were here to spend the week end with their parents and to see the football game between the Hamlin Pied Pipers and the Stamford Bulldogs.

DON'T GIVE A COLD AN EVEN BREAK!

DURING the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, make it easy for you to "catch cold." Don't give a common cold an even break.

Prevention is the best remedy. However, if you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate ventilation during the short winter season.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

This & That: Millions have been made and lost on tablecloths in New York hotels and restaurants . . . A pencil is the only equipment necessary . . . Never mind the laundry bills and ruined tablecloths . . . Instead of paper profits, linen profits . . . Now come the amateur strategists who win battles on nightclub tablecloths . . . Draw war maps and write out plans . . . They have never smelled gunpowder, heard big guns or worked out a war college problem . . . Yet they feel entirely qualified to criticize the British and French general staffs . . . It might be a lot better for all concerned if they would concentrate not on war plans but on plans to keep America out of Europe . . . Am reminded of the Times elevator operator who was asked what service he would choose if called to the colors . . . "The B army," was his reply "B here when you go and B here if you come back"

Subway entrance cloggers are one of my pet peeves . . . Many New Yorkers have the habit of stopping to converse right in the paths of those who would go downstairs . . . Buffeting doesn't seem to make any impression at all . . . Dark looks have still less effect . . . Apparently that which is being discussed is of such importance that inconvenience to others is of no consequence . . . Yet portions of such conversations as have reached my ears have been merely trivial . . . Another quaint New York habit I've noted is that of "swelling out" . . . A New Yorker finding space enough for two on a subway seat immediately tries to absorb it all . . . Some women place packages on the seat beside them . . . and look insulted if asked to take them on their laps so that some one else may rest his or her feet . . . Great town, New York

The talk was about a well-known writer of hit songs . . . "He owes a great deal of his success to his wife," asserted some one . . . "Yeah," added Louis Prima, "and he owes even more to Tschalkowsky" . . . Al Smith is to be a candidate for the city council in the November election . . . The son, not the father . . . Though once upon a time, Al Smith Sr was a member of the board of aldermen . . . "Let's all hope," says Phil Baker, "that America remains the place where the only precaution necessary against a gas attack is a can of bicarbonate" . . . And night when I hear a plane droning overhead, I'm thankful that instead of a bomber, it is merely the Albany mail.

Like Bea Wain's description of a "typical" New Yorker: "He is a man who dawdles for an hour at an excavation job but wails if he has to wait three minutes for a subway train; who runs up escalator steps; who insists on getting the morning paper the night before; who wouldn't accept a $20 bill for a dime for fear something was being put over on him; who knows all the rackets because he's always falling for them, and finally, he's the man who professes scorn for 'hick' towns but if there's one thing he dreams of settling down to when he has enough money, is a 'quiet place in the country.'"

For at least two years, there have been "danger" signs in front of a Forty-second street restaurant . . . The signs are so spaced that they afford just enough parking space for the trucks of the company operating the place, which is one of a chain . . . Yet New Yorkers, including those who pass day after day, give those signs as much room as they can . . . Elevators which rise from basements up to the sidewalk level must be equipped with warning bells so that pedestrians may get out of the way . . . A number of out-of-towners have taken free rides because they stopped to try to learn why the bell was ringing.

Advertisements begging owners to come and get their money may seem strange . . . Yet they have been appearing again in New York newspapers . . . Banks with unclaimed deposits want to get rid of them . . . Those "inactive accounts" cost them money . . . If not claimed, they eventually pass to the state . . . and now, THE END.

This Duck Possesses

Two Pairs of Wings

WHITEHILL, N. Y.—F. H. Vanderwerker, Williams street, owns a duck named Donald, which has two sets of wings, something his famous namesake cannot quack-quack about.

Other than this oddity Donald is normal. There is the regular set of wings, and normal, and below them, on each side is an extra wing as large as the normal ones.
